PERSONAL STATEMENT

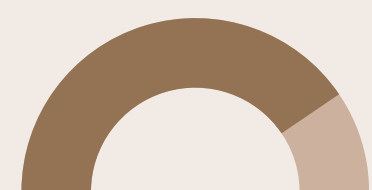

I am an ambitious, hardworking rational human being who loves to be challenged in learning new things. Architecture, to me, is a multi-disciplinary subject that has helped me grow as a person and to view things with a different perspective. Through critical analysis and problem solving techniques, I intend to establish balance between the physical and the intangible aspects of design.

I am currently seeking for the job of an intern to further my experience within the practical field to help expand my understanding and knowledge of architecture and interior designing.
